“We want to create a new way for players to create and share their favourite moments,” said Jeff Holly, Head of FIFA Sports. “The technology at the heart of Fifa 22 Product Key will bring the game to life like never before, unlocking all the possibilities of motion capture. For the first time ever, players will finally be able to track and share incredible real-life player shots, tackles and goals, and control the skill of their heroes on the pitch.” “As a game developer, I’m always striving to give players the best game experience possible,” said Ian Livingstone, Studio Head at EA Canada. “The motion technology powering FIFA 22 allows us to craft and deliver a deeper and more captivating football experience. This technology also lets us take our players’ top-class skill and athleticism to the next level, giving fans even more chances to experience something special.” Developed by EA Canada, FIFA 22 introduces new ways to create and share your favorite moments: Replay and share motion capture data. Capture and share live footage of your highest-rated and most outrageous moments, as well as create replays of your matches and showcase your skill in FIFA Ultimate Team. FIFA 22 also features the all-new shareable motion capture section inside the companion app, allowing you to share live captures of the final moments of every FIFA 22 match. FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion” technology, using motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The technology collects data on player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions, providing the raw input data for the physics engine. In a carefully crafted match, the physics engine determines the ball's position and direction and automatically calculates shots, passes and headers based on all relevant player information. As the real players’ skills stand in for the amazing virtual skills, this delivers the most authentic and accurate player experience to date. That means the ball behaves differently in each player’s hands, depending on how they move it. Just as the real ball felt when players were dodging and weaving around opponents, the ball feels differently when a player is heading it, and when he can dink it over an onrushing defender. FIFA 22 delivers new challenges to control the game, with sensors placed around the pitch providing players with information on
